Senator John Stennis,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Stennis,

I have been very much concerned about the threat to divide the national Democratic party. I feel very deeply that the south has far more to gain by supporting its policy inside the party than by bolting the organization. I was very sorry that your remarks to the recent mass meeting in Jackson did not receive more publicity. It seemed to me they pointed the way to a proper course of procedure.

Sincerely,
